Product Description

The HZS75 batching plant is a mid-sized concrete mixing station commonly used in construction projects for producing high-quality concrete. It is designed for efficiency and precision, featuring a modular structure that allows for quick installation and convenient maintenance. Key features include:

Output capacity: With a production rate of 75 cubic meters per hour, the HZS75 plant is ideal for medium-scale projects.

Mixing system: Equipped with a twin-shaft concrete mixer, it ensures thorough and consistent mixing of materials such as cement, water, sand, gravel, and additives.

Batching system: The plant comes with separate weighing systems for aggregates, cement, water, and admixtures. The aggregate batching system typically has four hoppers for different materials, ensuring accurate proportions in the mix.

Control system: It uses an automatic computer control system, often with options for manual operation, providing precise management of the production process and easy monitoring of performance.

Conveying system: The plant uses a belt conveyor to transport aggregates from the storage hoppers to the mixer, which reduces material loss and enhances efficiency.

Storage: The plant includes silos for storing cement and a water tank for controlling moisture levels in the mix.
