Product Description

The HZS75 mixing plant is a versatile and efficient concrete production facility, designed to meet the needs of medium-sized construction projects. Known for its reliability and high output, it is widely used in the construction of roads, bridges, industrial complexes, and residential buildings. Key features include:

Production capacity: Capable of producing 75 cubic meters of concrete per hour, this plant is ideal for projects that require consistent, high-quality concrete in significant volumes.

Mixing system: It features a twin-shaft mixer, which ensures fast, even mixing of cement, water, aggregates, and additives. This system produces a uniform concrete mix with excellent strength and durability.

Batching accuracy: The plant is equipped with a precise weighing and batching system, which includes multiple storage hoppers for materials like sand, gravel, cement, and water. Each material is measured and dispensed accurately, ensuring the proper mix proportions every time.
